BREXIT is a key issue for the country, and many business may be concerned about any uncertainty surrounding the issue. This concern may even be conflagrated by domestic manufacturers keen to secure additional sales and margins. At Trimo we have undertaken the necessary steps to avoid these concerns.

Trimo has all the necessary processes, procedures and certification in place to ensure that business will continue uninterrupted whatever the outcome of the UK's departure from the EU. There will be no interruption to trade, and deliveries will continue to be made in the normal manner. Our quotations remain valid as noted on each quote, and the small elements of tariffs and border duties anticipated will be included within the quoted price.

There will be some administrative changes, including the need to include UK VAT on invoices from 1st January 2020, however the process from 1st January 2020 will be seamless.

Trimo is accustomed to trading in over 100 countries worldwide on a regular basis, and has in place all the appropriate infrastructure and knowledge to ensure smooth and uninterrupted flow of business.

Should you have any concerns please discuss these with your usual sales representative.
